

8 and 9 February 2018

WORKSHOP WITH MARK SOLMS

A PRACTICAL INTRODUCTION TO NEUROPSYCHOANALYSIS: CLINICAL IMPLICATIONS

How do emerging models of the brain and mind inform clinical practice?

Join Mark Solms for an overview of key topics in neuropsychanalysis that enrich our theory and technique. A series of in-depth lectures will be presented, followed by detailed discussions of clinical material.

This workshop will earn CME points and is accredited by the International Neuropsychanalysis Society, which is in the process of establishing a clinical register. Completion of the workshop will count towards registration, when the register opens, but there will also be additional requirements (still being determined).

Lunches and refreshments will be provided.

To reserve your place for this workshop, please send an email, including your title, contact number, email address, profession, affiliation, etc., to info@ipu-berlin.de

Registration Closing Date: Wednesday, 24 January 2018

Cost: €190

Note: Banking details for payment will be sent following receipt of your registration details.

Enquiries: info@ipu-berlin.de

PROGRAMME

DAY ONE

THEORETICAL LESSONS

Session 1 (9:00–11:00)

- The affective basis of consciousness itself (the conscious id)
- The unconscious nature of cognition (the unconscious ego)
- Working memory: the role of consciousness in cognition

Session 2 (11:30–13:30)

- Consolidation, automatization and repression (the ‘cognitive’ and ‘dynamic’ unconscious)
- Reconsolidation (“consciousness arises instead of a memory trace”)
- Repression and defense (the return of the repressed)

Session 3 (14:30–16:30)

- Life’s problems: a taxonomy of drives, instincts and affects (implications for psychopathology)

DAY TWO

CLINICAL LESSONS

Session 1 (9:00–11:00)

- Implications of the conscious id for the ‘talking cure’
- Why our patients suffer mainly from feelings
- The meaning of symptoms
- The actual task of psychoanalytic treatment
- Countertransference (affective and object-relational dimensions)
- Why transference interpretation is mutative
- Why psychoanalytic treatment takes time: ‘working through’

PRACTICAL EXAMPLES

Session 2 (11:30–13:30)

- First case presentation (by a workshop participant) and discussion

Session 3 (14:30–16:30)

- Second case presentation (by a workshop participant) and discussion

International Psychoanalytic University Berlin

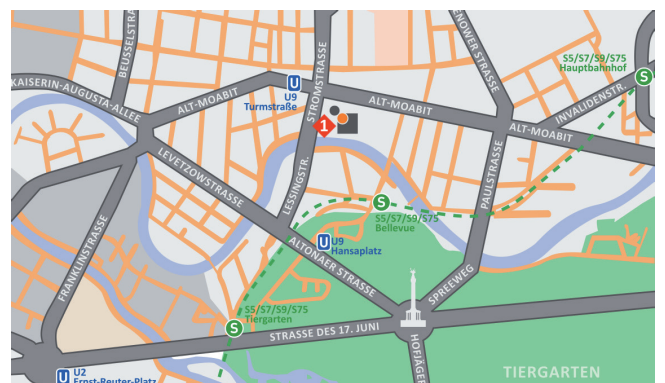

Stromstraße 1

10555 Berlin

www.ipu-berlin.de

DIE PSYCHOANALYTISCHE UNIVERSITÄT IN BERLIN

Design: webraise Berlin